Commitment To Our Craft...

Here at Park Street, we love food, farmers, and our planet. That's why we try and source our ingredients as regionally and sustainably as possible. From farmers we know and company's we believe in. You will not see us using Styrofoam, we use renewable compostable disposables made in America that are not harmful to the planet and are as high in quality as the food we put in them.

Serving up a little happiness one slice at a time.
